

Archaeologist

A scientist who studies how people lived hundreds or thousands of years ago.

Artifact

An item that tells us about a place or people.
For example, these coins from ancient Greece tell us that people back then used money to buy goods.

Time capsule

A sealed box that holds information about people from the past. People place letters, photos, and other items in a time capsule so that people in the future can learn about them.