

PaleoBotanist

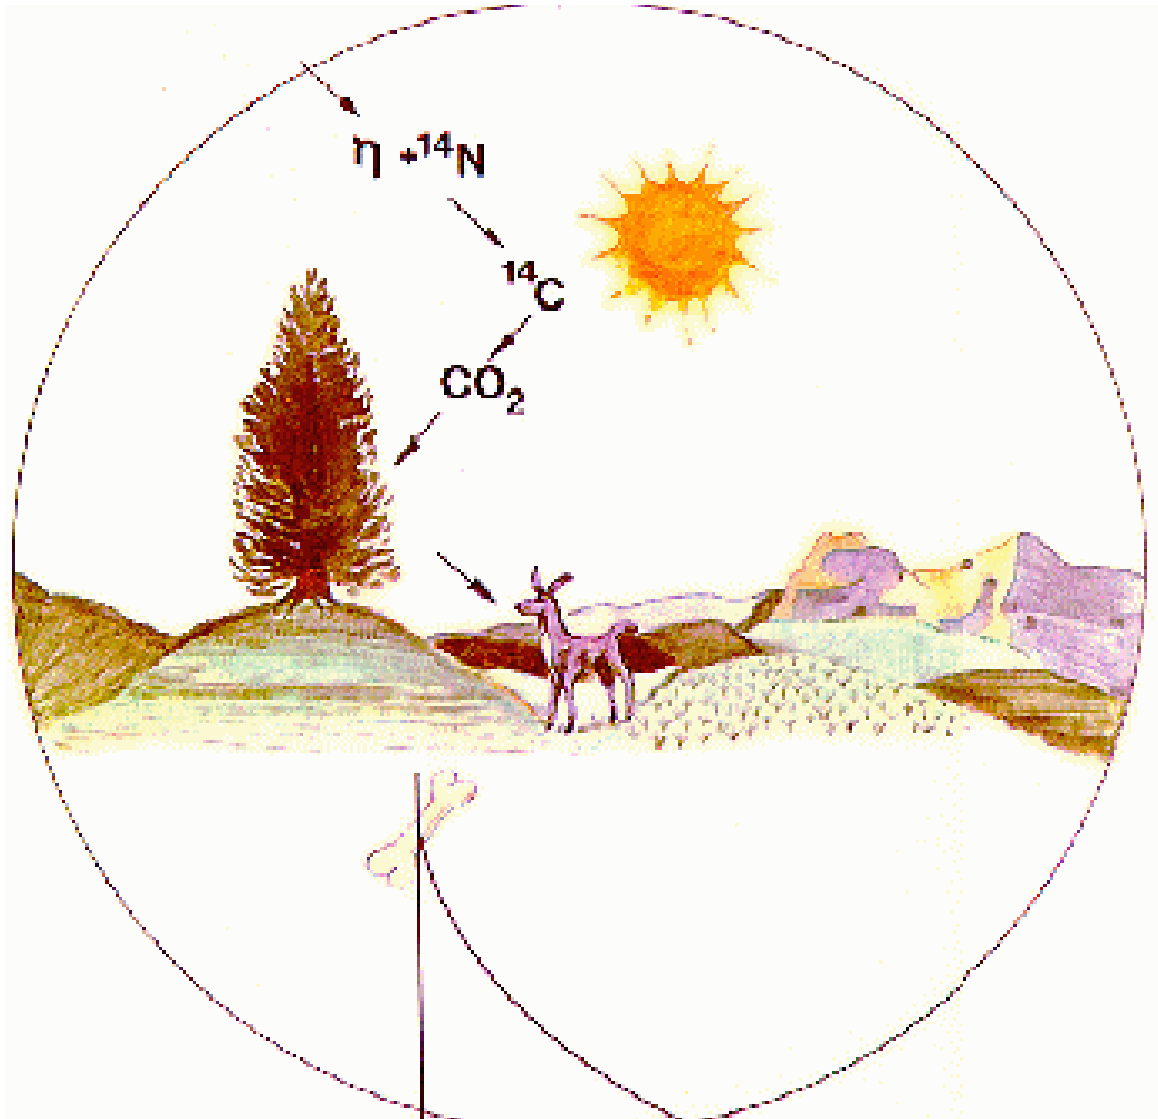

Someone who studies and identifies the evolution of plants.

Organic Matter

It is often the product of decay or comes from an organism that has recently been alive.

Carbon Dating

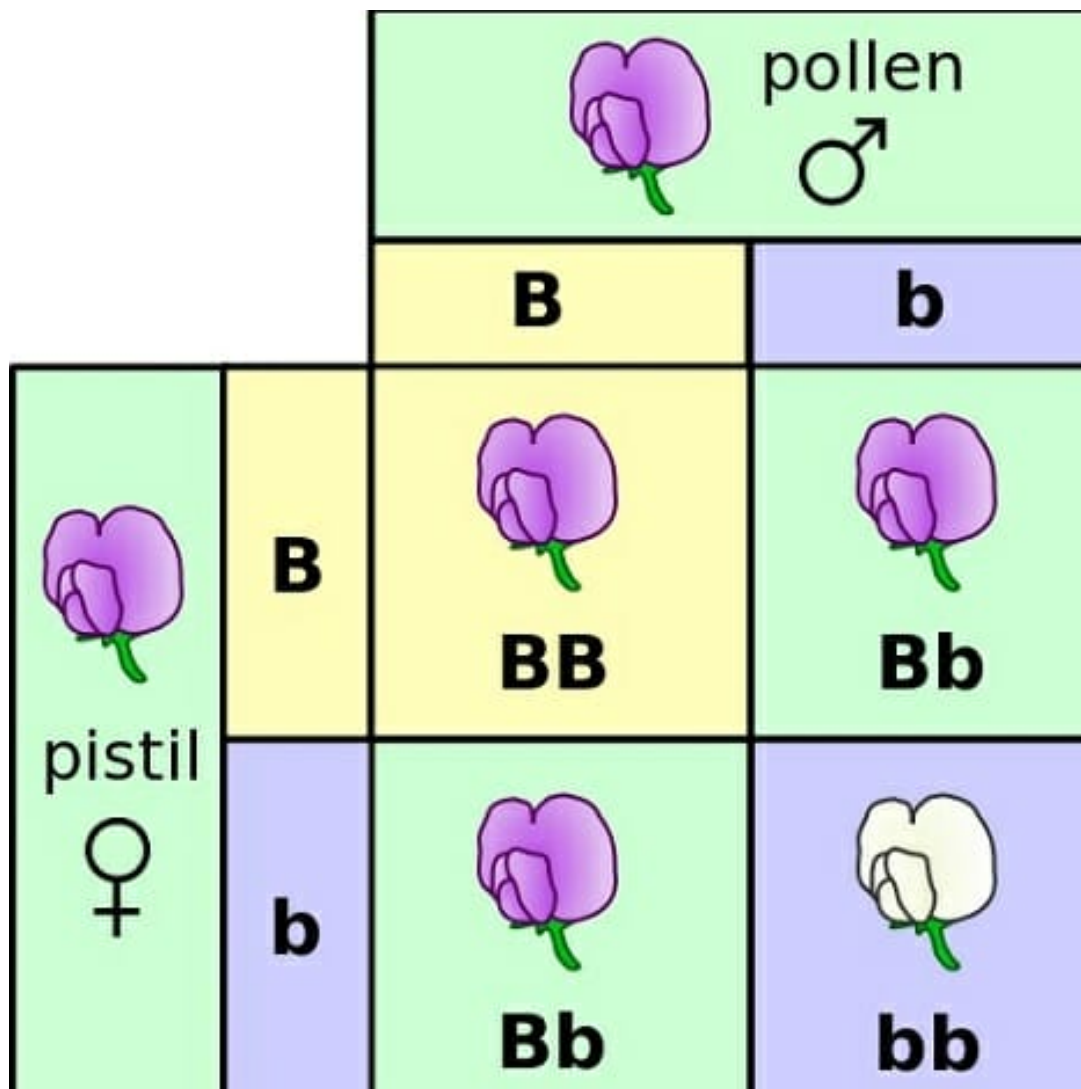

Carbon dating helps determine how old something is by examining how much carbon it has.

Byzantine Empire

Also known as the Eastern Roman Empire, it lasted longer than the Western Roman Empire and its capital city was Constantinople.

Genetics

The branch of biology that studies heredity and varied inherited characteristics. An example is if two parents both have blue eyes, so will the children.