

Inca Civilization, Llamas, and Machu Picchu-Answer Key

Answers to questions in Step 1:

1. The Incas were innovative because they used llamas to transport goods and llama wool to make blankets and clothes, they built a civilization by using resources found on the land, they built a civilization that was over 2,000 miles long.
2. They used llamas because they could carry heavy items for long distances. They could also travel over rocky terrain.
3. Many live in the same places that the Incas did, they farm and raise animals. They speak the traditional language and carry on certain cultural traditions such as making and weaving wool.